

Fall is in full swing! It's hard for kids to contain their excitement as Halloween approaches. Keep your students engaged and learning during the lead-up to trick-or-treat by bringing Halloween into the classroom.

In this month's World Book Wired, we're making the most of National Book Month by exploring several of our spooky (yet educational) print series titles, sharing costume inspiration, and discovering multicultural learning opportunities to incorporate Halloween into your lesson plans. From ghosts to vampires, disgusting bugs, or cryptic creatures, there is something for everyone!
